

Author Team

Lead Authors

Steven Hick, Ph.D., Carleton University (retired)

Steven was an award-winning professor of social work and is the author of the companion text, Social Welfare in Canada. He has practised at home and abroad as a human rights worker, social services worker, and social policy analyst. He is the co-founder of War Child Canada. Steven currently teaches insight meditation and mindfulness-based interventions.

Jackie Stokes, Ed.D., Assistant Professor, School of Social Work and Human Service, Thompson Rivers University

Jackie has an M.S.W. from the University of Northern British Columbia and an Ed.D. from Simon Fraser University. She has practised social work in northern British Columbia for more than 20 years, primarily in the areas of substance use and child protection.

Contributing Authors

Tod Augusta-Scott, M.S.W., R.S.W. (“Wade’s Story”)

Tod is known internationally for his work with domestic violence, narrative therapy, and restorative justice. He has spent more than 20 years as the coordinator of Bridges—a domestic violence counselling, research, and training institute in Nova Scotia. He has taught at Dalhousie University School of Social Work. Tod received the Distinguished Service Award from the Canadian Association of Social Workers in 2013.

Kevin Barnes-Ceeney, Ph.D., Assistant Professor, Henry C. Lee College of Criminal Justice and Forensic Science, University of New Haven (“Kevin’s Story”)

Kevin’s research interests include the implementation of risk assessment and case management services. Trained as a probation officer in Wales, he has worked in Kazakhstan, the United States, Jamaica, and Rwanda.

Cindy Blackstock, Ph.D.

A member of the Gitksan First Nation, Cindy works with children and adults to address the systemic disadvantage that First Nations children experience.

Kaila de Boer, B.S.W., R.S.W. (“Mark’s Story”)

Kaila is the Director of Mental Wellness and Healing with the Nunatsiavut Government’s Department of Health and Social Development. She is also a graduate student at the School of Social Work at McGill University.

David Este, Ph.D., Professor, Faculty of Social Work, University of Calgary

David’s interests include mental health, non-profit management, multicultural social work practice, and qualitative research.

Elizabeth Fast, Ph.D., Assistant Professor, Department of Applied Human Sciences, Concordia University

Elizabeth is Métis, originally from St. François-Xavier, Manitoba. Her research interests include cultural identities, urban Indigenous youth, and transforming child welfare practices.

Roy Hanes, Ph.D., Associate Professor, School of Social Work, Carleton University

Roy has taught a social work and persons with disabilities course since 1993. He is a member of the Council of Canadians with Disabilities and a founding member of both the Persons with Disabilities Caucus of the Canadian Association for Social Work Education and the Canadian Disability Studies Association.

Barb Juett, M.S.W., R.S.W. (“The Shadbous’ Story”; “The Raynors’ Story”)

Barb’s interests include helping parents work through their feelings of grief and loss related to parenting a child with special needs. She is an active member of the Complex Care Advisory Committee and teaches an online course at Algonquin College in the Autism and Behavioural Science Program.

Patti LaBoucane-Benson, Ph.D. (Human Ecology)

Patti’s doctoral work focused on Aboriginal Family Resilience. She has worked for Native Counselling Services of Alberta (NCSA) for 21 years and is currently the Director of Research, Training and Communication. She also leads the development, facilitator training, and implementation of a healing program curriculum for NCSA.

Daniel W.L. Lai, Ph.D., Chair Professor of Social Work and Gerontology; Head, Department of Applied Social Sciences, Director, Institute of Active Ageing, The Hong Kong Polytechnic University; former Professor of Social Work, University of Calgary

Daniel’s interests include population ageing, immigration, social policy, mental health, health, health care, research, evaluation, post-secondary education, social work, non-profit management, statistical data analysis, quantitative research, and qualitative research.

Dr. Sandra Loucks Campbell, M.S.W., Ph.D., former adjunct Assistant Professor, University of Waterloo

Sandra’s abiding passion throughout her career was her interest in improving the lives of older persons. She served as Chair of the Ontario Association of Social Workers’ Issues of Aging Committee from 1995 to 2015. She also chaired a team of seven authors in the creation of the OASW’s Elder Abuse Handbook for Service Providers.

The Faculty of Social Work at the University of Waterloo presented Sandra with the 2010 Graduate Honour Award for outstanding work in the field of social work.

Dennis McDermott, B.S.W., R.S.W. (“Theresa and Sarah’s Story”)

Dennis has worked in the areas of mental health, substance use, and homelessness. He is an ally to and has worked extensively with First Nations programs and families in Toronto.

H. Monty Montgomery, Ph.D., Assistant Professor, University of Regina, Saskatoon

Harpell Montgomery (Monty) is of Mi’kmaq ancestry from the Eastern Shore area of Nova Scotia. His major fields of professional interest are First Nations child welfare program development and practice, information technology/management for social work practitioners, and online distance learning with Aboriginal adult learners.

Sharicka Reid, B.A. (Honours)

Sharicka has worked with mental health consumers at the Canadian Mental Health Association and has experience supporting individuals with dual diagnosis and concurrent disorders. She heads up the office of the Family Association for Mental Health Everywhere in Brampton, Ontario.

Christa Sato, M.S.W. student, Faculty of Social Work, University of Calgary; Calgary Project Site Coordinator, Strength in Unity

Christa is pursuing her M.S.W. in International and Community Development. Her thesis research focuses on processes that have enabled second-generation Filipino males in Calgary to complete university studies.

Raven Sinclair (Kahkakiw), Ph.D., Associate Professor, Faculty of Social Work, University of Regina, Saskatoon

Raven is a member of the Nehiyawak (Cree) Nation. Her academic and research interests include Indigenous knowledge and research methodologies, Aboriginal child welfare and adoption, colonial and decolonization theories, and mental health and wellness.

Kathleen C. Sitter, Ph.D., Assistant Professor, School of Social Work, Memorial University

Kathleen’s research interests include participatory research, social media and social work, visual methodologies, and critical disability studies.

Stewart J. Smith, M.S.W., R.S.W., part-time Professor of Social Work, King’s University College; Counsellor, Daya Counselling Centre

Stewart is employed as a therapist in a community agency that provides counselling services. He also has a private practice and works part-time as an instructor at King’s University College’s School of Social Work. In September 2015, he began studies in the Ph.D. program in social work at Wilfrid Laurier University in Kitchener, Ontario.

Sarah Todd, Ed.D., M.S.W., B.A./B.S.W., Associate Professor, School of Social Work, Carleton University

Sarah is currently involved in two research projects supporting grassroots youth organizations in carrying out research and evaluation. Her other research interests include community work, social work education, gender, and sexuality.

Adje van de Sande, M.S.W., Ph.D., Associate Professor, School of Social Work, Carleton University

Adje teaches Research Methods and Statistics at the undergraduate and graduate levels with a focus on community-based participatory research. His research interests focus on poverty reduction and research ethics.